MARRYING FOR MONEY

Marrying for Money by Mrs. Eva Leonard—Useful Hints for the Busy Housewife—Vaseline to Remove Mildew—Mustard Mayonnaise—Recipe for Children With Spaghetti.

Jacob Townsend was eating his breakfast with his paper propped up in front of him. Ortrude sat opposite him, a frown on her handsome face. She toyed with her spoon, tapped with her foot on the carpet, all to no purpose. Jacob was utterly oblivious of her presence. Finally Jacob emerged from cover enough to ask for another cup of coffee. Ortrude was slow in taking the cup from the extended hand. She was determined to get his attention.

"Oh, did you speak?" she asked absently as he looked up to see why she had not taken the proffered cup. "Would you mind giving me another cup of coffee?" repeated Jacob, looking over the top of his breastworks. "Do you intend to take it behind your fortifications? Because if you do—"

Jacob removed his glasses and looked inquiringly at her.

"If you knew how distressing it is to look out on that wall of paper and know that there is a human being behind it who is so muffled in news that no human tone can reach him, why must you lay siege to the fortification as to a walled city," continued Ortrude as she poured the coffee.

"Well, as you control the food and water supply it will be easy to starve the place into surrender," laughed Jacob, taking the cup. "The fact is, two bright red spots burning in her cheeks. "You misconstrue everything she does, Ortrude. I saw nothing impudent. Don't imagine things. There is enough real trouble to combat." "There surely is," said Ortrude, rising and leaving Jacob to finish his breakfast alone.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.
If the fire is too hot for broiling, sprinkle a little coal over it and the meat will not scorch.

A baby's nightgown can be finished envelope fashion at the foot and the difficulty of climbing is obviated.

To remove mildew from leather rub a little pure vaseline well into it and then polish with a clean chamomile leather.

If hot grease is spilled on the table throw cold water on to harden it and prevent it from soaking into the wood.

A mustard mayonnaise may be served with ham sandwiches, or, rather, spread on the bread before the ham is put between. It is not customary to serve a dressing with sandwiches unless they are hot "club" ones to be eaten with a fork.

Red currants added to the raspberries give raspberry jam a delicious flavor.

To make perfect tea, remember—good tea, boiling water and a hot teapot.

CHICKEN WITH SPAGHETTI.
Boil in salted water half a pound of spaghetti and drain. Spread on a platter that may be put in the oven without damage. Spread over the spaghetti a layer of highly seasoned tomato sauce. Shred the cooked chicken meat into little strips and lay on the tomato, you will need the meat of a small chicken for a half pound of spaghetti. Cut four stalks of celery fine and season with onion salt, salt, paprika and a dash of mace. Cook this brown in a little pork fat and spread over the chicken. Put in the oven to get very hot.

ABLE TO REPRODUCE THE NATURAL COLORS
Rome, Feb. 13, 8:25 p. m. via Paris, Feb. 14, 12:45 a. m.—What is hailed here as an important scientific discovery is a method of photography reproducing natural colors, found after eight years of experimenting by the Pineschi brothers and by Signor Santoni. These men say that they have solved in a satisfactory way a problem on which scientists have been working in many countries and that important commercial results are to be expected from the exploitation of their discovery for the purposes of moving-picture exhibitions. Complete tests are soon to be made by distinguished scientists to determine the full scope of the discovery.

LINCOLN AND DARWIN WERE MASTERS IN THEIR LINE

The singing of Mrs. Mary Sparks Atkinson, at the First Presbyterian church yesterday, was one of the musical treats of the year. Mrs. Atkinson possesses a voice of much sweetness and sings the high notes with a clear, pure tone. Her six selections were listened to with rapt attention and if Mrs. Atkinson ever returns to Ogden, she will find a host of appreciative friends.

The violin offertories rendered by Miss Ida Anderson and Mrs. Beatrice Hamill Post added very much to the musical interest of the evening.

Speaking on the theme of "The Humility of Lincoln," Rev. John Edward Carver, said in part:

On the 12th of February, 1809, two babes were born who were to turn the attention of the world to the neglected and despised things of earth. One born in the poverty to the poor, loved and sympathized the lowly and friendless and gave his thought and labor to freeing the slave. The other reared in the abode of culture and education gave his genius to the study of the common and unnoted creatures and overlooked trends of creation. Lincoln freed the slave and in that is his first claim to honor. Darwin's greatest work in his treatise on the earthworm and in it he shows the importance of that despised and overlooked creature that, like a slave, toils for the enrichment and blessing of men. Each of these men were to toll in criticism and abuse all their days and prove anew to the world that patient honest following of a sincere conviction brings a sure reward. In their own way they emphasized three of the great trends of the Christ, for Christ came to teach equality of men, to give freedom from sin and to reveal the value of little and unnoted things.

Ponce de Leon is known to all readers of our early history as the man who tried to find the fount of eternal youth. He failed. Lincoln and Darwin found it in the way they were like children to the end of their days. They were humble, trustful and teachable to their death. The one trusted the common people, the other the common facts of life. Each was ready to learn, ready to learn, determined to learn and each ever gave an open mind to any new truth or facts. As long as a man is eager to learn he has the rest of a child. As long as a man tries to learn, he has the joy of a child. For him the days are never dull nor long. Old age commences when the mind stops growth.

"Humility won its true reward when, at Gettysburg, Lincoln placed the honored dead first. Everatt tried to win fame for himself and failed. Lincoln forgot himself when he gave the honored dead the first place. There is something about self-seeking that rebounds to the detriment of the seeker. Pride now, as in the days of old, is the first of the seven deadly sins."

POLES ASK GUARANTEE.
London, Feb. 14, 2:55 a. m.—A dispatch to the Post from its Berne correspondent states that Germany is making strenuous efforts to induce the Poles to agree to accept autonomy under the suzerainty of Germany. In which event Germany will form an additional army of 900,000 Poles. The dispatch adds that Polish leaders in Switzerland believe it is imperative for the entente allies to guarantee Polish autonomy, which was promised by the Russian emperor, in order to prevent the Poles from accepting the German proposal.

REVIVAL SPIRIT AT BAPTIST CHURCH

Rev. George F. Lowe, pastor of the First Baptist church, delivered a strong sermon last night on "The Christian," declaring that the name was the greatest to which a mortal could aspire. In part, he said:

"The name Christian is the greatest compliment that can be added to any individual name. There are people in the world who will strive for titles, complimentary and honorary degree, but the name Christian means more than any one or all of these. While honor bestowed for valor of service in any line is not to be despised, the greatest of all is to gain the name Christian; for a Christian is a follower of Christ."

The disciples were first called Christians at Antioch, and this name was not by mere chance, it came like many others that are dear because of what it really meant, these people at Antioch were followed by Jesus Christ, or Christ reproduced before the world in a small way, but yet in such a way that the world said the best name for these people was that of Christian and the followers of Christ have from that day to this been known as Christians before the world.

"The acceptance of Jesus Christ into the heart of the individual places that one where the applying of the name Christian ought naturally to follow, people are best known by the life they live before the world and not by the church they belong to."

"To be called out of the world, that is out from the service of the world, unto the spiritual life, and to be kept by the power of God in the place where our lives will count for the most, for the upbuilding of our fellow man, is in deed to live to God's glory."

"This sort of life will place us where it will matter but little that the world will say about us, for it is evident to all that we are not living for ourselves, but others, then someone will say, he was a Christian."

Quite a revival spirit was noticeable in the morning service, six young people confessing faith in Christ. They will be baptized next Sunday night.

London, Feb. 14, 4:05 a. m.—The first call to the married men who attested under the Derby scheme, the Daily Mail says, will be issued about a month hence.

A late London report said that all single men were to be called to the colors during the coming week.

Health for Sick Women

For Forty Years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Has Been Woman's Most Reliable Medicine—Here is More Proof.

To women who are suffering from some form of woman's special ills, and have a constant fear of breaking down, the three following letters ought to bring hope:—

North Crandon, Wis.—"When I was 16 years old I got married and at 18 years I gave birth to twins and it left me with very poor health. I could not walk across the floor without having to sit down to rest and it was hard for me to keep about and do my work. I went to a doctor and he told me I had a displacement and ulcers, and would have to have an operation. This frightened me so much that I did not know what to do. Having heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I thought I would give it a trial and it made me as well as ever. I cannot say enough in favor of the Pinkham remedies."—Mrs. MAYME ASBACH, North Crandon, Wis.

Testimony from Oklahoma.

Lawton, Okla.—"When I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I seemed to be good for nothing. I tired easily and had headaches much of the time and was irregular. I took it again before my little child was born and it did me a wonderful amount of good at that time. I never fail to recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to ailing women because it has done so much for me."—Mrs. A. L. McCasland, 509 Have St., Lawton, Okla.

From a Grateful Massachusetts Woman.

Roxbury, Mass.—"I was suffering from inflammation and was examined by a physician who found that my trouble was caused by a displacement. My symptoms were bearing down pains, backache, and sluggish liver. I tried several kinds of medicine; then I was asked to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It has cured me and I am pleased to be in my usual good health by using it and highly recommend it."—Mrs. B. M. Osgood, 1 Haynes Park, Roxbury, Mass.

Mary and Her Little Lamb

When Percy saw Mary with rubber boots new He cried till she promised he'd have a pair too

To get Percy boots was like buying for twins As it took just two pair for all of his limbs

Now Percy had wished for a rousing big storm Sonow he is happy with all his boots on

He paraded along a mighty proud kid But now you will see what a naughty boy did

He turned on the plug and then aimed with the hose And soon Percy was afloat clear up to his nose

He went through the sewer and way out in the bay And never got home until evening next day
